MIMIC OCTOPUS

Thaumoctopus mimicus | Animal Status: Very Rare

NEXT-LEVEL DISGUISE

Although an octopus can hunt for its food, it must be careful not to become food! God has given octopuses some special features that help them avoid danger. One amazing feature is camouflage. Most types of octopuses can not only change colors but can also change their skin texture from smooth skin to rough and spiky so it blends in with rocks, sand, or coral. The mimic octopus takes this disguise to a whole new level. It doesn't just change its looks to match the background. It can also change the way it moves and acts to pretend to be (mimic) other animals! This camouflage expert reminds us that there are a lot of counterfeit views of God out there that are trying to mimic the one true God. We must get to know God well by reading his Word so we won't be fooled by the fakes.

SUGAR GLIDER

Petaurus breviceps | Animal Status: Common

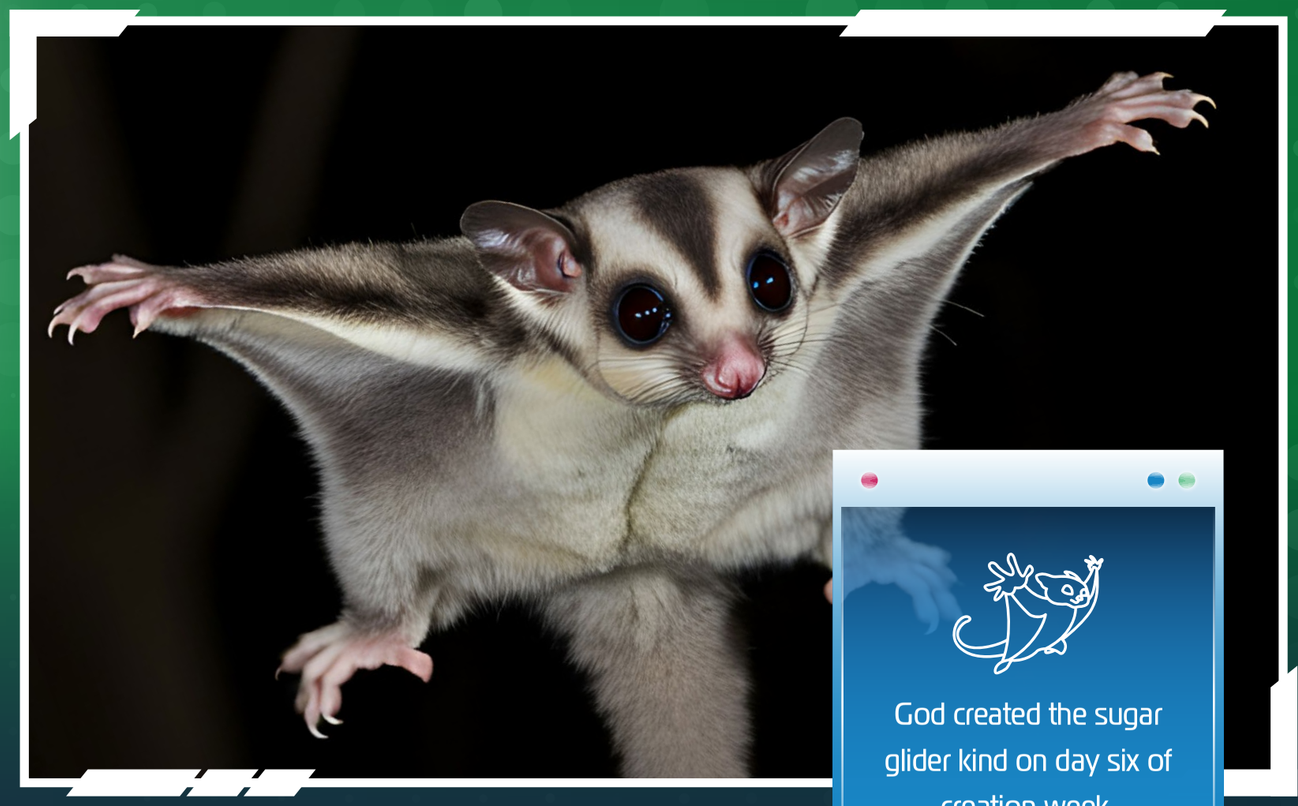

Locations:
Australia, New Guinea, Indonesia, and nearby islands

SWEETLY UNIQUE

God has designed these creatures with an amazing gliding ability! When they jump, they spread out their limbs to unfold loose skin that catches the breeze to take them from tree to tree. Some sugar gliders have been seen gliding up to 135 feet! Besides being great gliders, they're good climbers! A sugar glider's tail is longer than the rest of its body and helps with balance. They also have fingerprints, which provide a rough surface that grips the tree and keeps the gliders from sliding down! No two sugar gliders have the same set of fingerprints; they're unique—just like no two people have the same set of prints. Because they're unique, fingerprints can be used to determine someone's identity. Fingerprints are an amazing design that reveal God's handiwork, reminding us that God himself is unique. He is the one true God who exists in three persons called the Trinity.

SEA LION

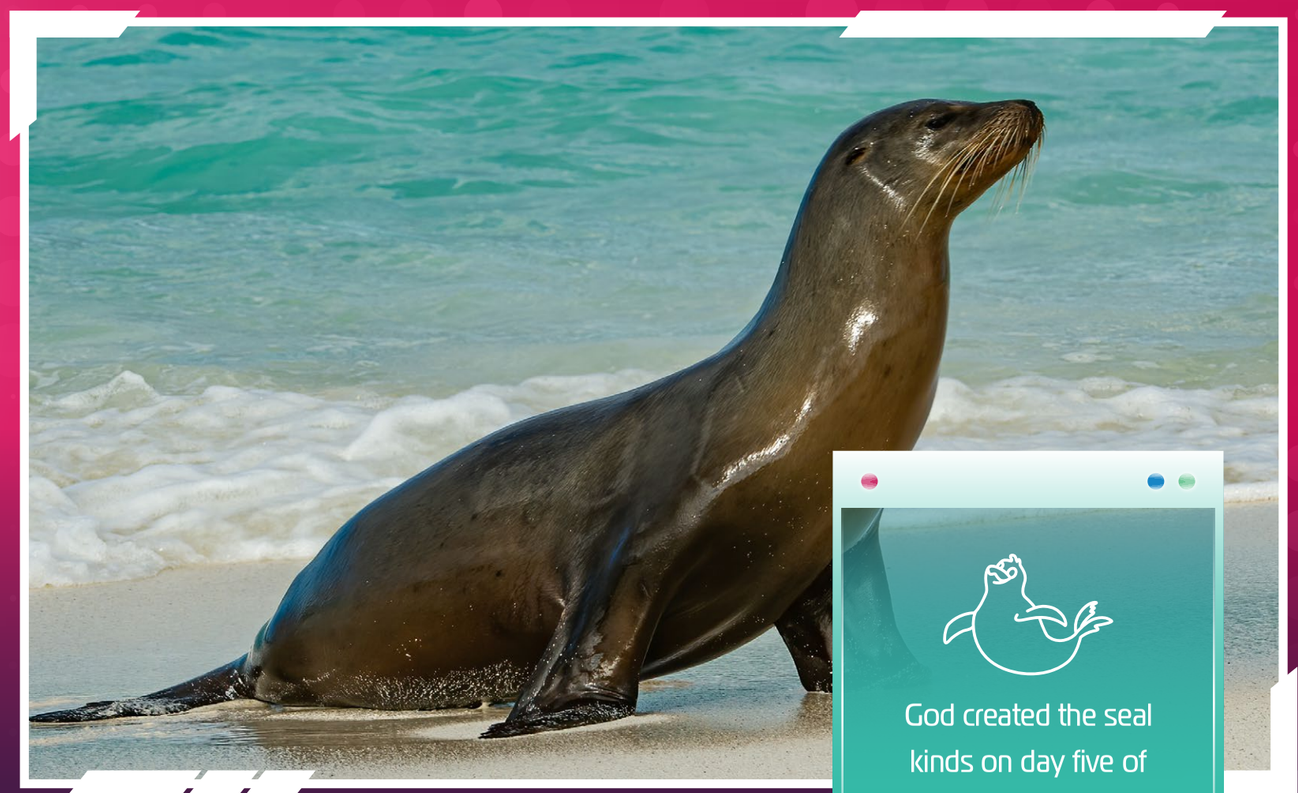

Zalophus californianus | Animal Status: Very Common

EXPERT DIVER

While sea lions can move about on land, they're fastest in the ocean, swimming up to 25 miles per hour. God designed them with a streamlined body that helps them glide through the water. Their front flippers give them power, while their back flippers help them steer and easily switch direction! Sea lions can hold their breath for up to 20 minutes and dive over 900 feet deep! God has given them large eyes, keen ears, and sensitive whiskers that help them see, hear, and feel their way around underwater. They can be trained to use these abilities to rescue lost equipment underwater by attaching recovery lines that help bring it back to the surface. It's incredible how these animals can be used in rescue missions, and this reminds us that we need rescuing too. There is only one person who can rescue us from our sin, and that is God himself!

KUNEKUNE PIG

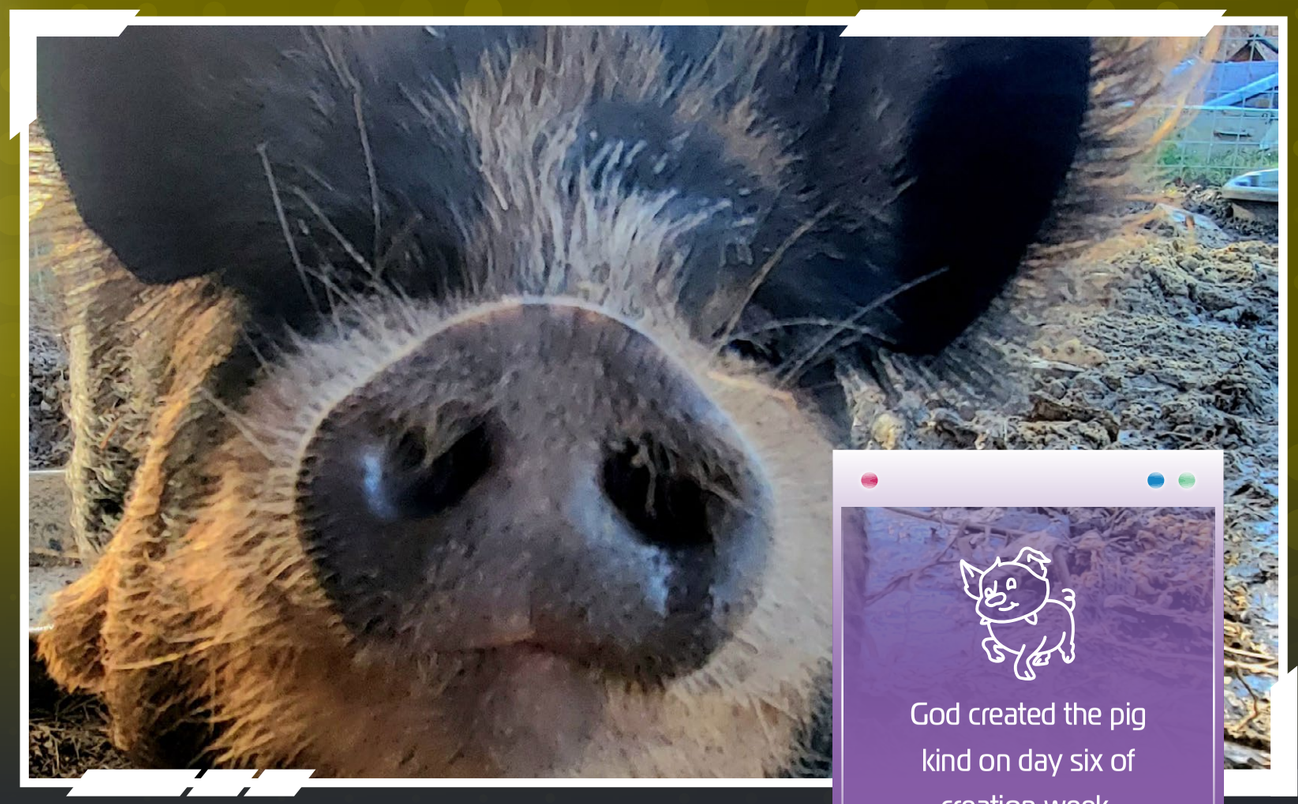

Sus scrofa domesticus | Animal Status: Common

ONE-OF-A-KIND CUTIE

The kunekune is a breed of pig from New Zealand. Its name is from the Maori language, meaning "fat and round," but it's actually one of the smallest breeds. Unlike other pigs, kunekunes don't use mud to cool off because God gave them a thick coat of bristly fur to protect their skin from the sun and rain. Another one-of-a-kind trait is the fleshy lobes under their chin called piripiri, which give kunekunes their cute, unique look! Pigs remind us of a story Jesus told about a young man who left his father's house and wasted his money on sinful living. He ended up working on a pig farm and became so hungry he wanted to eat the pigs' food! This story teaches about the grace God gives to sinners: Although we've all run from God in our sin, he gives us what we don't deserve—love and forgiveness through Jesus.

HOMING PIGEON

Columba livia domestica | Animal Status: Very Common

Locations: Europe, North America, and parts of Asia

MESSENGERS WITH A MISSION

God gave pigeons an amazing ability to fly straight back to their home nest. This is called homing. Pigeons may look for landmarks, listen for low-level sounds, sniff for certain smells, sense the earth's magnetic field like a compass—or use all these senses to find their way. Even when they're up against difficult circumstances, pigeons know where home is and will do all they can to get back there. Since the time of Noah, humans have kept pigeons and trained them for different uses, including helping to save lives during wartime. Pigeons have been equipped with tiny cameras and special vests allowing them to go into battle alongside paratroopers. But their most important mission was to carry urgent messages, wrapped around their leg, back to the battle commanders. The homing pigeon reminds us that God has a mission for us while we're here on earth—to carry his message about Jesus to the world!

Sneaky Spy Trivia

In the twelfth century, Japan trained ninjas as masters of disguise and physical fitness. The word ninja comes from a Japanese word meaning "to make yourself invisible."

If you want to be a spy for the CIA, your career might start at Camp Peary, a spy school in Virginia also known as "the Farm." Here, wannabe agents learn typical spy skills like mastering disguises, surveillance, and how to live a double life.They also learn some unusual skills like skydiving, how to drive around obstacles, and how to not get lost. Would you want to go there?

You think double agents are sneaky? What about triple agents? Agnes Smedly was a triple agent who worked for Russia, China, and India!

Not all spies work out in the field. Some spies sit at home all day reading the newspaper and watching TV. Public information is important intelligence too!

Clean up! Spies must be very tidy and organized so they can notice if anything is missing from their desk or bookshelf. They also must have good memories to remember all their papers and books and where everything belongs.

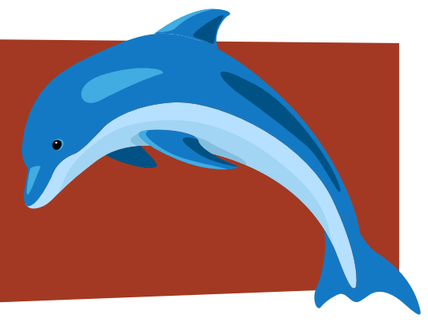

Animals of all kinds can be used in spy operations because they seem less suspicious than human agents. The CIA trained a cat to wander into spaces while having a microphone and transmitter attached to its body. This allowed the CIA to hear what was going on around the cat.

One scientist turned a lightbulb into a listening device, making it capable of picking up all the conversations taking place close to it. Creative, huh?

Dolphins have been used by the US Navy for many years. They are trained to locate and mark mines in the ocean, and also to find suspicious swimmers and divers.

Smile, you're on secret camera! Spy cameras can be hidden in buttons, book covers, belt buckles, watches, and pens. One time, a camera was hidden on a bee.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

COUNTERFEIT

FACTS

- Jehovah's Witnesses were founded in 1881 by Charles Taze Russell as the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society but are commonly known as Jehovah's Witnesses. They use their own translation of the Bible called the New World Translation (NWT) which changes verses to fit the group's theology.

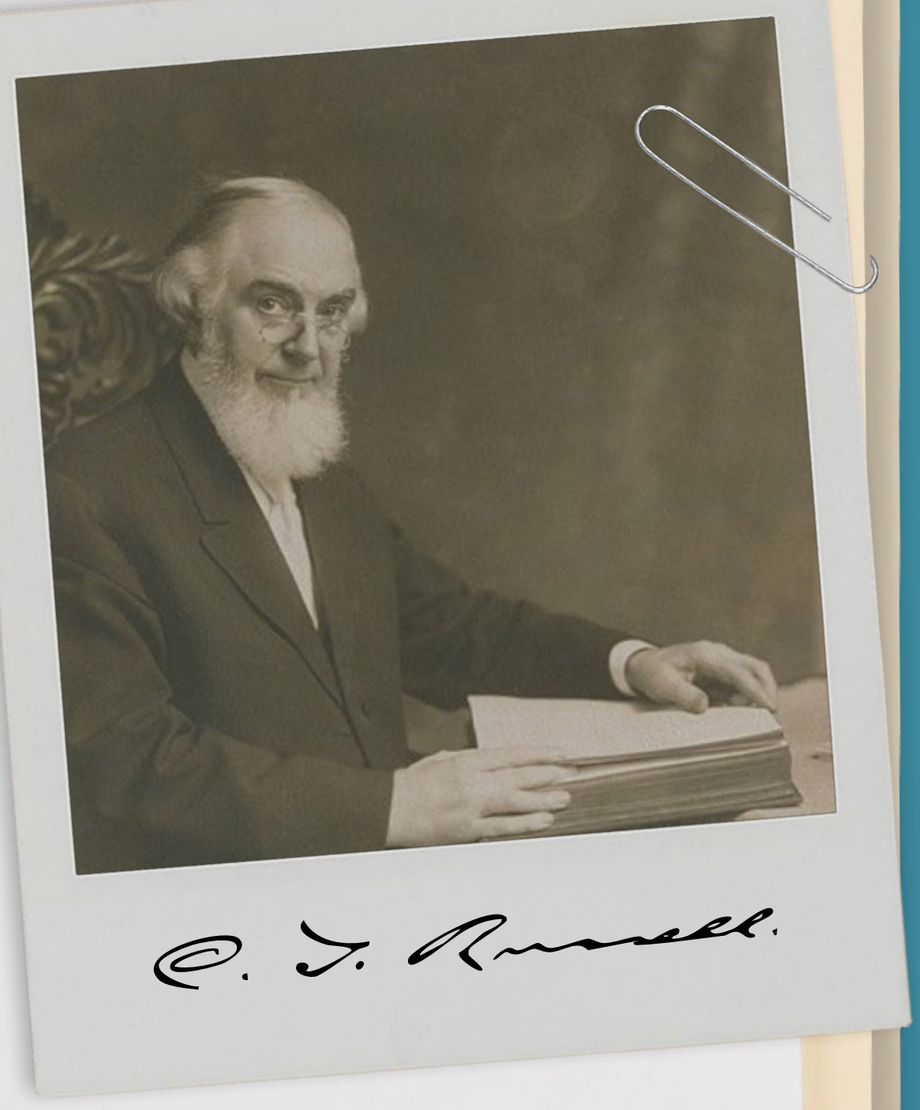

- They reject Christian doctrines like the Trinity, punishment in hell, and immortal souls. They also reject the gospel of grace and add good works to salvation.

- They promoted prophetic dates of Christ's return that were proven wrong.

- Jehovah's Witnesses do not celebrate Christmas or birthdays. They also do not say the Pledge of Allegiance or sing any national anthems. This is in an extreme effort to not elevate any person or government above God.

Jehovah's witnesses frequently travel in pairs and go door to door to share their beliefs.

Jehovah's Witnesses believe that Jesus was the first created being—Michael the archangel. But we know from the Bible that Jesus was not an angel. He is GOD from everlasting to everlasting!

ISLAM

FALSE

FACTS

- People who believe and follow the teachings of Islam are called Muslims. Muslims are expected to follow five rules (or pillars). The five pillars of Islam are faith, prayer, charity, fasting, and prayer.
- They look to Ishmael as the child of Abraham's promise rather than Isaac (Genesis 17:16–19; Galatians 4:21–31).
- They view Jesus as a prophet and deny he is God in flesh.
- They see the Bible as a holy book that has been corrupted.
- Their god, Allah, is not the trinitarian God of the Bible.
- Allah demands good works for entry into paradise.
- There is no sacrifice for sins; you must rely on Allah's mercy for forgiveness.

The original Quran was written in Arabic, which means it's read from right to left.

Muslims are taught to pray 5 times a day.

Muslims worship in buildings called mosques.

BUDDHISM

INVALID

FACTS

- Buddhists believe the universe is not ruled by any supreme deity or creator.
- The gods of Buddhism are part of the universe and not eternal or powerful.
- Buddists believe that Jesus is not God and did not provide a sacrifice for sin. To them, Jesus was just a great teacher who taught wise ways to live but not God. The Bible teaches that Jesus definitely was a great teacher, but he is also God!
- Buddists strive to achieve enlightenment, also known as Nirvana. Their ancient writings are not the authority; only following the path of the Buddha leads to enlightenment. Their ultimate goal is to end suffering by following the Four Noble Truths and the Eightfold Path to enlightenment.

Buddhist Monk

Buddhists don't worship Buddha statues, but they have them as reminders of Buddha's teachings.

Buddhists believe that humans are reincarnated after they die, which means they come back to life as another person, plant, animal, etc. However, the Bible teaches that we will die one time and then we either live with God forever or live in hell forever (Hebrews 9:27).

Have you received the gift of eternal life through Jesus (Romans 6:23, 10:9-10)?

MORMONISM

FACTS

- Mormons reject the beliefs and confessions of traditional Christianity and replace them with a "restored gospel" that they claim was delivered to Joseph Smith in the 1820s.
- Mormons embrace modern "prophets" as a source of authority and new revelation.
- Based on obedience, there are three levels of heaven you can achieve.
- They will often refer to the Scriptures, but they add the Book of Mormon, Pearl of Great Price, and Doctrine and Covenants to the Bible.
- They believe that good works are necessary for our salvation, not grace alone.

The Jesus they follow is supposedly a created offspring of the heavenly Father, not a part of the eternal Trinity.

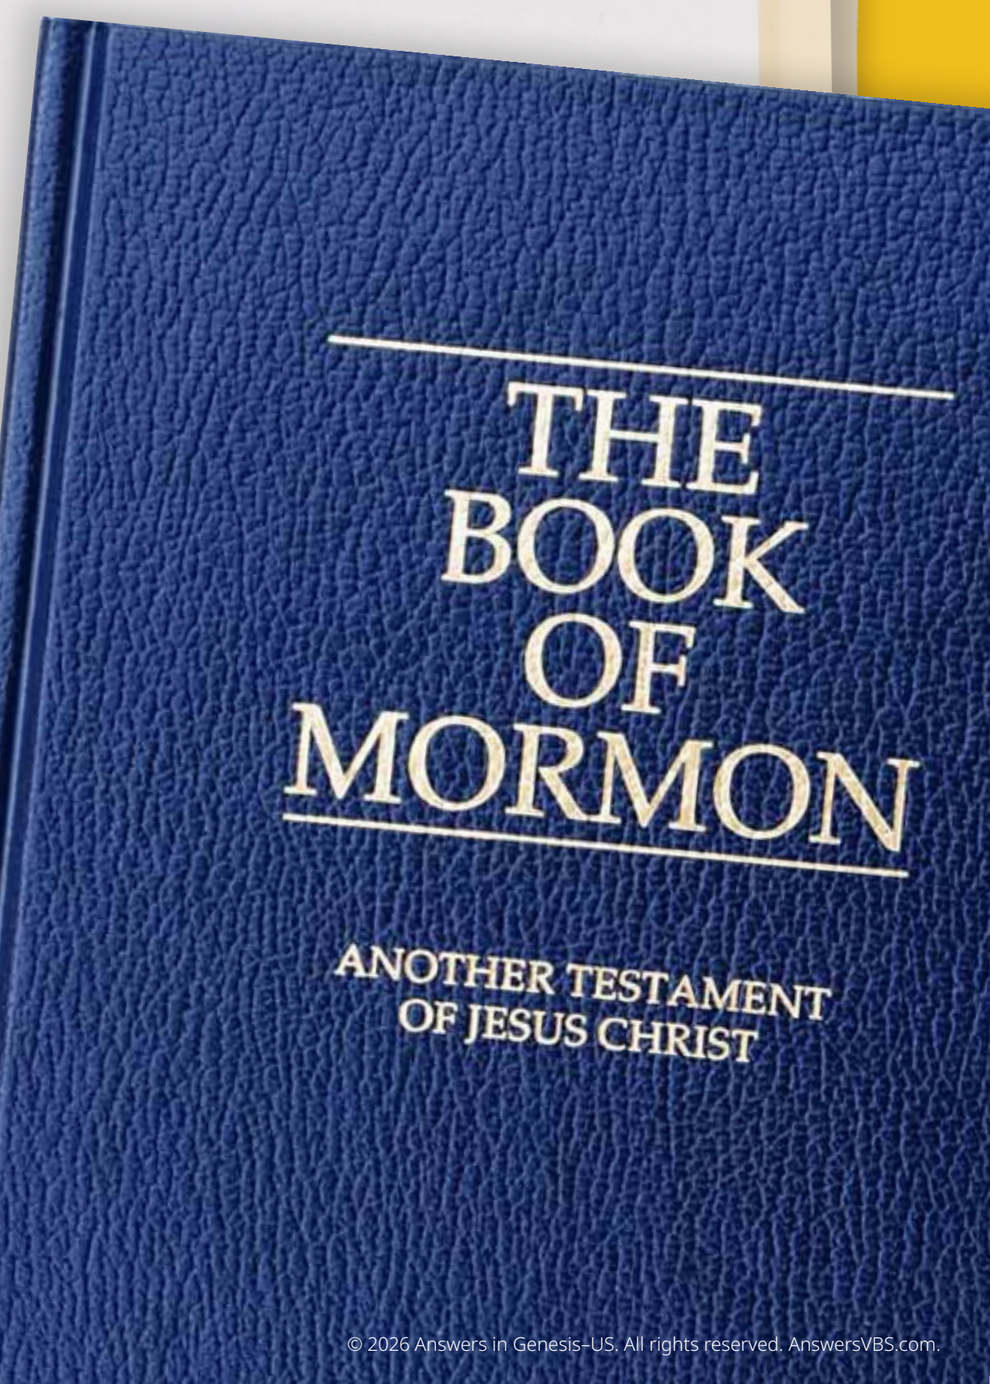

Many young Mormons dedicate approximately two years to being missionaries. They are sent all over the world (generally in pairs) to share their beliefs.

Mormonism was founded by Joseph Smith in 1830 after he claimed to have received a vision from the heavenly Father and his Son.

EVOLUTION/ NATURALISM

FALSE

FACTS

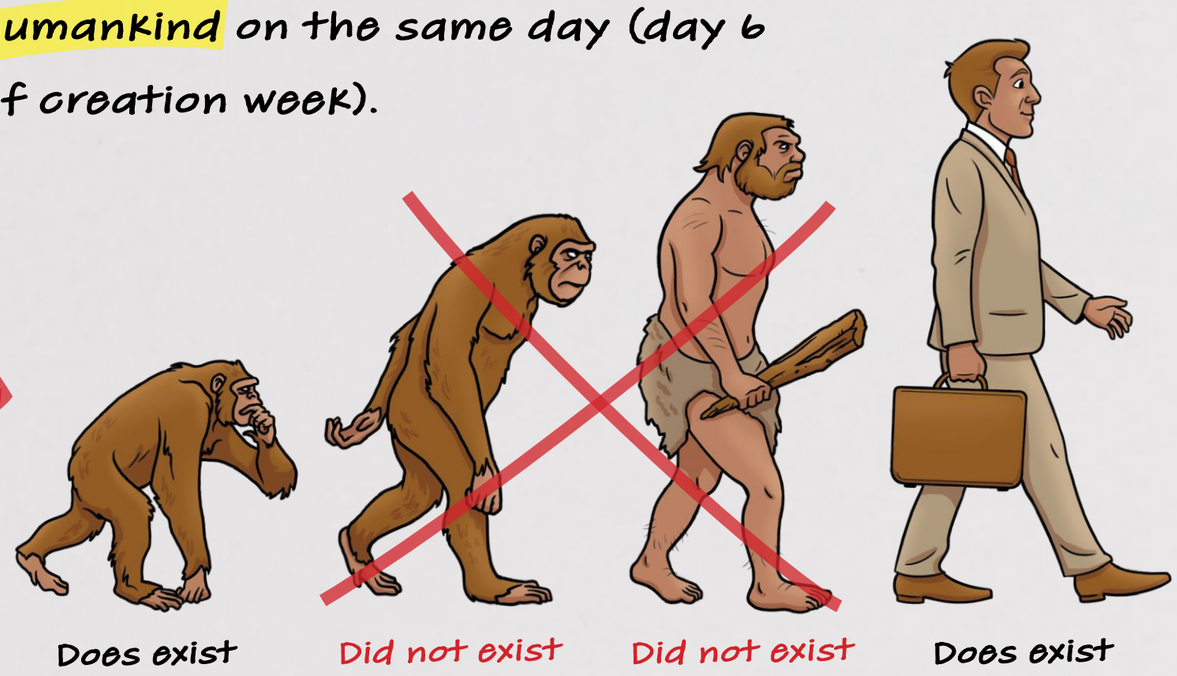

- Those who believe in molecules-to-man evolution and naturalism deny God as Creator and believe the big bang led to life evolving on earth over billions of years.
- They reject anything supernatural, including the triune God of the Bible.
- Many do not believe the Bible has any authority.
- They believe man determines truth on his own and that there is no afterlife.
- They reject the idea of sin and any authority that comes from God.

The "Big Bang"

This diagram is frequently shown, but it is wrong. God created man in his own image—not in the image of an apelike creature. Additionally, no scientific evidence of this transition exists. God created different kinds of apes, and God created humankind on the same day (day 6 of creation week).

Evolution teaches that everything came out of nothing, but we can know that God created the world because the Bible says so in Genesis 1!
