

How would you feel if you didn't know when you would eat next?

For children like Hector, it is easy to feel like no one cares about their problems. If you could talk with Hector, what would you do to show him that he is loved?

Name:

Hector

Country:

United States

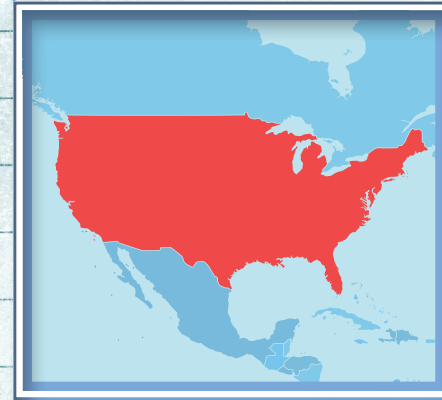

Problem:

Invisible Poor

About:

Hector gets to school early every day so that he can receive breakfast from the school. Later, he will also get a free lunch. Sometimes, this is all the food he will eat all day. He is thankful for this food because it means he has energy to focus on his schoolwork and play with his friends at recess. Hector doesn't want his friends to know that his family doesn't always have food for dinner. Hector's friends look forward to summer. But Hector doesn't, because it means he will no longer receive meals at school.

Prayer Requests:

Pray for kids like Hector in your neighborhood, school, or church who may not know where their next meal will come from.

Pray that local churches would be able to identify families in their communities who need their help.
