Fox & Geese

How to Play

1. To set up, place the "fox" game piece on the center circle and the 15 "geese" on the remaining solid (dark) circles.
2. The object is for the geese to trap the fox and the fox to avoid being trapped.
3. Toss a coin to determine who will be the fox.
4. Players take turns moving their pieces along the lines. The geese go first. The geese can move forward, diagonally, or sideways, but not backwards, one space at a time. The fox can move any direction and can "capture" a goose by jumping over it if there is an open spot on the other side. Multiple jumps are permitted. Captured geese are removed from the board. Geese cannot jump.
5. The geese win when they trap the fox so he can't move. The fox wins when he captures enough geese so he can't be trapped.
