Terrific Trivia Tidbits

Here are some nifty inventions from the Middle Ages: clocks, eyeglasses, windmills, cannons, the compass, and the printing press.

If you're royalty, you'd better not be in a hurry to move into your new house, because it could take 10 years or more to build a castle.

What can you get done in 60 seconds? A skilled archer could shoot 12 arrows per minute!

When medieval people had a toothache, they went to a barber surgeon, who pulled teeth, cut hair, and performed minor surgery.

Day One

Were Dinosaurs Dragons?

Some dragons flew and other dragons lived in the water, so not all dragons could be called dinosaurs because dinosaurs lived on the land. But all dinosaurs could have been dragons.

Cultures from all over the globe have dragon legends. The descriptions of these beasts are often very similar to those of dinosaurs.

Carvings and cave paintings of these monsters have been discovered. Some of these dragon legends contain mythical elements, while others likely lost all the true details and retain nothing more than tall tales. But in many cases, the dragons were viewed as real animals.

Some reptiles are mistakenly called dinosaurs.
Place the stickers in the correct category.

Dinosaur

- Legs directly under the body
- Land-dwelling animal

Not a Dinosaur

- Legs out to the side
- Flying reptiles
- Marine reptiles
